A MARKET FOR IMPROVEMENT

By Russ Lawrence

russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

WORK on the long-awaited makeover of a Tottenham market is finally expected to get under way next Monday – on the extra day added to February for leap year.

It was four years ago in 2012 – the last time there was a leap year – that the facelift for Holcombe Road Market, near Bruce Grove, was first announced using funding earmarked for regeneration following the Tottenham riots.

Plagued by delays and false starts over ground conditions, access for utility companies to privately-owned property and right to light issues, Haringey Council announced last October that work was expected to begin at the end of last year.

But that has now been rescheduled and will start on February 29.

The scheme, aimed at boosting trade and attracting shoppers and creating jobs, includes modern new kiosks for existing traders, improved pedestrian routes and paving, better signage and car parking facilities as well as new CCTV.

Work is expected to be completed in the summer.

Alan Strickland, the council's cabinet member for housing and regeneration, said: "I'm delighted to see work start at Holcombe Road Market.

"We have worked closely with local people to identify what they would like to see improved at the market and it's great to see that vision move another step closer to becoming a reality."

But questions about why it has taken the council so long to deliver on its promise were raised this week by Martin Ball, of Dowsett Road Residents' Association, who was a representative on the now disbanded Bruce Grove Stakeholder Group,

Vision of the future: An artist's impression of how the revamped Holcombe Road market may look which helped develop the plans.

"It's great that work is soon to begin, but seeing is believing," he said. "There have been loads of excuses, but no real explanation of a near four-year failure of policy."

Council signs anti-smoking pledge

SOME smokers are having a hard time quitting in Haringey because of the easy availability of cheap illicit cigarettes and tobacco, according to a report.

One in five of the borough's residents smoke and more than 37 per cent of those surveyed for the joint report by Haringey Council and Public Health England said they had been offered counterfeit black market loose tobacco and cigarettes.

The recently published document also reveals more than 16 per cent of those questioned reported it happened on a weekly basis.

It is just one of the areas the council has vowed to tackle by signing up last week to a special pledge committing local authorities to reduce smoking by putting it at the centre of public health work.

Library lout hit with injunction

A COURT injunction has been slapped on a drunken lout barring him from a Tottenham library after he failed to heed a previous stay-away ban.

Uzodinma Wigwe had been a menace to staff and users of St Ann's Library, in St Ann's Road, and had been barred for six months last year after he was aggressive and threatening towards children.

Haringey Council obtained the injunction against the 54-year-old, from Victoria Crescent, Tottenham, after he continued to intimidate and be aggressive to staff and users of the library.

Not only is the library off-limits, he is also banned under the conditions of the injunction from Cissbury Road, Lydford Road, Oulton Road, Culvert Road and parts of St Ann's Road, which surround the library. If he breaches the injunction, which remains in place until January 20, 2017, he faces arrest.

Woman faces murder charge

A WOMAN was further remanded in custody when she appeared at the Old Bailey yesterday charged with the murder of a 32-year-old man at premises above a Spurs-themed pub in Tottenham a fortnight ago.

Gyuldzhan Hadzhieva, 37, is accused of the fatal stabbing of Shenol Ali, a Bulgarian national, at a flat above the Bill Nicholson pub, in Northumberland Park, on Wednesday February 3.

She was committed to the Old Bailey for a preliminary trial hearing by Hendon Magistrates' Court, having appeared there in custody on Saturday.

MP's claims 'don't make sense'

Greens hit out after Burrowes campaigns for recall of £30m cycle scheme cash

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

THE Green Party has hit out at an MP's demands for City Hall to recall millions of pounds from Cycle Enfield in a last-ditch bid to put the brakes on the scheme.

Last week, after Enfield Council announced it would be pressing ahead with the next stage of the cycle lanes plans in Green Lanes, David Burrowes, the Conservative MP for Enfield Southgate, publicly called on the Mayor of London to stop the next tranche of funding to the local authority.

City Hall is due to release £5.9million to allow the council to carry out statutory consultation on the cycle proposals.

However, Mr Burrowes is adamant that the money should be held back for another two months to allow for "further engagement with residents and businesses" ahead of the formal consultation process.

In a letter to Boris Johnson, the MP wrote: "I am formally requesting on behalf of a clear majority of my constituents that you do not at this stage approve the next tranche of £5.9m capital funds, so that further engagement can take place with residents and businesses."

"Given the circumstances, it is reasonable for such engagement to take place before expenditure on the statutory consultation phase. It will also enable a wider consideration of the scheme in conjunction with the progress of the Enfield Town scheme."

Mr Burrowes sent out 17,000 postcards in the Palmers Green, Southgate, Winchmore Hill and Grange Park areas of his constituency last year.

Of those, 2,828 replied and 1,973 said they were totally opposed to the scheme.

The MP, who is close to the Save Our Green Lanes campaign group led by prominent Palmers Green businessman and landlord Costas Georgiou, claims this proves a majority of residents are opposed to the scheme despite the council's official figures, which showed a slim majority of people who responded to their official consultation were broadly in favour of the scheme.

The Enfield Green Party is unhappy at Mr Burrowes's opposition to the cycle lane programme, which it argues will help the borough deal with issues including childhood obesity, chronic air pollution and increasingly choked roads.

The party also argues that by making the roads safe enough for children to cycle to school, not only will there be less air pollution as a result of fewer cars on the road, but also it will make parents and children healthier and happier.

Ronald Stewart, prospective Green Party candidate for the Enfield and Haringey constituency in the coming London Assembly elections, said: "The claims of David Burrowes don't make sense. The 300,000 people of Enfield deserve this investment into safe cycling and should be able to walk down the high street without facing illegal levels of air pollution."

The nays have it: David Burrowes announces the result of his survey into the cycling plans for Palmers Green

"All the evidence indicates that pedestrian-oriented retail planning brings economic benefits, when people are happy to spend more time and more money with local businesses.

"Enfield Council should use this opportunity to be bold and show how much can be done to improve Enfield through this investment."

Collision on motorway leaves man fighting for his life

POLICE are appealing for witnesses to a traffic collision after a 52-year-old man was left in a life-threatening condition.

Police were called to reports of a collision at junction 25 of the M25 between a car and a lorry at about 10.25 on Monday night.

The man who was driving the car was rushed to hospital with life-threatening injuries. No arrests have been made. The driver of the lorry stopped at the scene and is helping police with their inquiries.

Witnesses to the collision are asked to contact the Chadwell Heath Serious Collision Investigation Unit on 020 8597 4874 or they can call Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111. Road closures were in place in the immediate aftermath of the incident, but all lanes were reopened by 4.30am yesterday.

MPs split as nation gears up for EU referendum

In or out?: The EU flag flies outside the civic centre, in Silver Street, Enfield Town – but for how much longer?

ONLY one of the borough's MPs is calling for the UK to get out of the European Union.

David Burrowes, the Conservative MP for Enfield Southgate, is backing the OUT campaign because, he says, the overwhelming concerns from his constituents focus on the pressure immigration from the EU places on public services such as health, schools and housing.

He says that rather than provide greater investment in these services, the best way to deal with the pressures would be to leave Europe.

He insists that the deal Prime Minister David Cameron struck with EU leaders in Brussels last week is not tough enough on immigration.

He said: "The harsh reality is that the EU is ill-equipped to deal with the divergent challenges of economic growth, recession, terrorism and migration."

"Far from providing security in an uncertain world, the EU's policies have become a source of instability and insecurity."

However, both the borough's Labour MPs, Edmonton's Kate Osamor and Enfield North's Joan Ryan, have poured scorn on the idea that economically Britain would be better out of the network of nations.

Ms Ryan told the Advertiser: "We have to go past party political divisions when it comes to jobs, trade and investment and when it comes to defence this would be a most serious and damaging step for Britain to leave Europe."

"I accept there are issues that have not always been dealt with in the best way, but you do not solve those issues by taking a sledgehammer to our economy."

"Voting to leave would be foolish and irresponsible."

Ms Osamor, who is the shadow junior minister for women and equalities, pointed to a litany of protections for the general population that would be lost if people voted to leave. "Thanks to the European Union, we have stronger workers' rights, maternity rights and protection from discrimination," she said.

"We need to work with our allies in Europe, build on this positive legislation and build a stronger Europe, a Europe of sustainable growth, jobs and social justice."

She pointed to the fact that being within Europe protects residents from discrimination and ensures their human rights are protected.

She added: "We are stronger in than we are out. Labour are the party of equality and the European Union has protected us through its equality legislation."

Watchdog consults over plans to scrap four ticket offices

RAIL users in Enfield have until Sunday, March 13, to have their say on plans to scrap ticket offices at four of the borough's stations.

Views are being sought by transport watchdog London TravelWatch on train operator Govia Thameslink Railways' proposals to permanently close ticket offices at Enfield Chase, Palmers Green, Gordon Hill and Winchmore Hill stations.

It is part of closures affecting 44 stations across its network where fewer than 12 tickets an hour are sold.

Staff will no longer occupy the ticket office and will instead hover on the station concourse, selling tickets from handheld devices.

It has led to concerns that manning levels will be reduced with fewer station staff to help passengers, particularly the elderly and disabled who need extra assistance.

But train operator Govia insists stations will be staffed for longer as a result of the changes which, if agreed by the Department of Transport, are scheduled to come into effect between June and September.

To comment on the proposals write to London TravelWatch, 169 Union Street, London, SE1 0LL, or emailenquiries@londontravelwatch.org.uk, with "GTR ticket office changes" in the subject line.

Three jailed following 'crash for cash' scam

By Russ Lawrence

russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

THREE fraudsters behind a crash for cash scam have been given suspended jail sentences after falsely claiming they were involved in a collision in a bid to pocket insurance money.

Abdi Ali Muse, of Garfield Road, Ponders End, and two women passengers had tried to swindle insurance company esure by submitting fraudulent claims for a total of £10,000 for whiplash injury and losses.

But the accident between the Vauxhall Corsa Mr Muse claimed he had been driving in Hertford Road and a Ford Mondeo in August 2013 never happened.

The scam was uncovered after investigators noticed the damage to the vehicles was not consistent with the type of collision reported.

They also identified the Mondeo driver had two policies with esure – one for the car he was driving at the time and one for a Vauxhall Zafira.

It was further discovered that the original deposit payments for the two policies had been made by Mr Muse and one of those claiming to have been a passenger in his car, Nimalah Mohammed.

They and Sulekha Khalif, the other "passenger", were arrested by detectives from the Insurance Fraud Enforcement Department. After admitting the accident had not happened as they claimed, they were charged with conspiracy to commit fraud.

Muse, 30, pleaded guilty at the Old Bailey and received a 10-month suspended jail sentence, plus 150 hours' unpaid work and fines and costs of £1,000.

Khalif, 23, from Shoreditch, central London, also pleaded guilty and was given a six-month suspended sentence.

Mohammed, from Hackney, east London, pleaded not guilty and was convicted by a jury following a trial and given a suspended eight-month sentence.

Detective Constable Gary Kearley, who investigated the case said: "The whole claim was fabricated and it was likely they had planned it well in advance."

"Fraudulent crash for cash claims mean higher premiums for law-abiding motorists, so they affect everybody in that way. Anyone thinking that a crash for cash scam is a quick and harmless way to make cash is sorely mistaken and these fraudsters will now all have criminal convictions."

Officers investigating the fraud appealed to the public for information this week about the whereabouts of Abubaker Elmi, 28, whose last known address was in South Street, Ponders End.

He is wanted on a warrant after failing to appear at City of London Magistrates Court in April.

It is believed he may be operating as a minicab driver in the north London area and has contacts in

Wanted: Abubaker Elmi

Enfield. Officers also believe that he may be using other names.

Anyone with information should call Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555 111.

LIFE was full of ups and downs for these schoolchildren during their half-term holiday.

They were full of bounce as they tried out trampolining.

It was just one of the activities offered as part of a fun-packed programme of sports courses and Youngsters enjoyed expert instruction from specialist trampolining coaches.

They were also able to try other sports activities at different venues around the borough, including gymnastics, dance and horse riding.

The programme was aimed at getting children away from their computers and keeping them fit and healthy, and was delivered by Enfield Council's Everybody Active team.

Who will be the lucky winner of £1,000 prize?

IN line for the £1,000 up for grabs to Enfield charities is the latest nominee in our great give-away with mobile phone provider Vodafone.

The Ark provides support services for children, young people and their families in the borough and the cash, it says, would be put to very good use, should they be chosen as the worthy cause most deserving of the windfall.

Any charity can be entered for the competition which the Enfield Advertiser is running in conjunction with the Enfield branch of Vodafone as part of the company's Community Connection Awards scheme – but you'll need to get your nomination in quickly because the deadline is 4pm on Thursday, March 3.

The Ark, based in Marsh House, in Montagu Road, Edmonton, was founded more than 20 years ago and works closely with the community, offering information, advice and support for children and young people with special educational needs and disabilities, a counselling service and a mentoring service, both for children and young people.

"If we won the £1,000, we would like to set up a participation group for the children and young people who use our services to give them a voice on what services they would like to see from us, and in the local area, and to offer them some training in self-advocacy, assertiveness and public speaking," said chief executive Judith Mulligan.

"It would help us to set up the group, hire rooms, provide resources and training and refreshments," she added.

If you know of a charity or deserving project that could benefit from £1,000, send your nomination to competitions@nlhnews.co.uk with "Vodafone" in the subject line, or to Vodafone Community Connection Award, North London & Herts Newspapers, 187 Baker Street, Enfield, EN1 3JT.

RESIDENTS will see their council tax go up for the first time in six years if finance chiefs' plans get the go-ahead tonight.

The full council is set to debate plans that will raise council tax 1.99 per cent on top of the new dictat from central government that local authorities must raise money for adult health and social care by adding two per cent to council tax bills.

However, the leader of Enfield Council Doug Taylor says this will not mean that bills will go up by almost four per cent as the Olympic levy that was imposed throughout London ends this year, meaning in real terms bills will only rise by 1.78 per cent.

As well as debating the budget for the coming year at the meeting of the full council, Mr Taylor will be launching his campaign for Fair Funding.

He argues that at the moment, under the way local authorities are given money by central government, Enfield is losing out in terms of how money is allocated.

When the new funding formula was established for Enfield in 2013, the government established that the it would remain unchanged until 2020.

However, this worries council chiefs, who point out that the borough has changed in all manner of ways since 2013, with massive migration from central London affecting Enfield in the last two years.

On top of that, Mr Taylor argues, council services are bearing the brunt of welfare cuts including the introduction of the housing benefit cap and universal credit.

"The council has a statutory duty to protect children," he said. "No one wants to see homeless children or families living on the street, so the council has to step in."

And Mr Taylor says that the growing need of the population, with 60 per cent of children in Edmonton classed as living in poverty, is not factored into the current formula.

The way the funding formula was calculated in 2013 – and will remain on the same level – is based on population and the council points out

Council tax set to go up for first time in six years

Fighting for more government grant: Enfield Council leader Doug Taylor that it should be focused on need and the government should be looking at renewing how it is calculated each year.

"When I talk about fairness in allocating money to councils, I mean fairness based on population increase and population characteristics," said Mr Taylor. "For example, Westminster Council has been given a grant that equates to £917.59 per person in their borough. However, here in Enfield, we have the equivalent of just £496.10 per person."

Mr Taylor adds that due to the level of need in Enfield, the government needs to look again at how the grants given to local authorities are calculated.

He said: "What has been happening is that there has been an improvement in inner London boroughs, but places like Enfield have seen a worsening of their position in terms of the numbers of people living in poverty, living in temporary accommodation, as people move out of central London due to the high cost of rent and move to outer London."

He says he will not be standing in Parliament Square "waving a placard", but the local authority will be putting together a campaign to lobby central government over increasing the amount of grant funding it receives.

Safety pledge after spate of fires in flats

COUNCIL chiefs have stressed their commitment to keeping residents safe after it emerged that there had been 18 flat fires in the borough in the space of 12 months.

The Advertiser found out from the London Fire Brigade that the brigade had been called to 18 separate fires in blocks of flats in the borough in the past year.

That's a rate of more than one a month and the council has stressed that it is doing everything in its power to improve fire safety in the tower blocks under its management.

Ahmet Oykener, the council chief responsible for housing and housing regeneration, said that residents' safety was "the highest priority" for the local authority.

"As such we have a comprehensive fire safety management plan in place to protect tower block residents from fires," he said.

"This includes conducting comprehensive risk assessments to identify fire hazards in all premises, the installation, testing and maintenance of fire equipment and warning signage and weekly safety inspections of estates and tower blocks by trained staff."

"We also investigate all fires to identify the causes and take the most appropriate action to prevent a repeat."

Mr Oykener revealed that in the year 2015/2016 eight such flat fires were investigated and it was found that the causes included a laptop computer, flammable material being left too near lit candles, residents not in their flat while pots and pans were left on lit gas hobs and a faulty boiler.

The investigations also revealed that two of the fire were the result of arson.

Man accused of murdering pregnant woman dies in jail

By Julia Gregory

julia.gregory@nlhnews.co.uk

A MAN charged with murdering a pregnant woman in a hostel in Winchmore Hill has died in prison as he awaited trial, an inquest heard last week.

Tedros Habtom Kahssay had been charged with killing 32-year-old Mambero Ghebreflafia at the hostel for homeless people, in Ridge Avenue, just before Christmas.

The 28-year-old lived at the hostel and was due to face trial at the Old Bailey next month.

Detective Constable Simon Stoddard, from the Met's homicide team, told an inquest at North London Coroner's Court in Barnet last Wednesday: "Mr Kahssay committed suicide at Pentonville prison on January 19."

The inquest heard that a resident at the hostel called the police on December 19 last year after Ms Ghebreflafia had been stabbed following an argument.

She was bleeding heavily and "most of her neck was cut" with a kitchen knife, according to report read by coroner Andrew Walker.

Despite the efforts of an air ambulance crew to save Ms Ghebreflafia and her unborn child, she died at the house. Mr Kahssay was arrested and charged with her murder.

The coroner recorded a verdict of Suspect committed suicide while awaiting trial, inquest told

Scene of crime: The hostel for homeless people, in Ridge Avenue, Winchmore Hill unlawful killing. He said Ms Ghebreflafia had died from incised wounds to her neck.

"I am satisfied that at the time these injuries were inflicted the person inflicting those injuries intended to kill Ms Ghebreflafia or cause her some really serious harm."

He offered condolences to the family of Ms Ghebreflafia, from Dagenham, east London.

They did not attend the inquest.

'Don't leave us hanging on the telephone', say council callers

CALLERS to Enfield Council have been left hanging on the line after a sporadic phone meltdown in recent weeks.

Residents who tried to report problems or get through to various departments after reaching the recorded message providing different options have complained they did not get connected.

Jill Bickerstaff, who lives in Enfield Town, wanted to report problems with rubbish collection and claims she spent three quarters of an hour on the phone.

She said: "It's faceless. Not everybody can go online, or go to the library to use a computer. There should be somebody in person answering the phone."

A council spokeswoman admitted that problems had been caused by the overwhelmingly high volume of calls to its call centre.

"We are aware that at times over the last couple of weeks high call volumes have made it difficult to get through to customer services by phone," she said.

"We apologise for the inconvenience. Residents are also able to use our new website to access our services."

"They may find this much quicker and easier than calling us, which enables us to continue to assist those who are unable to use the internet."

Convictions could be reviewed after landmark ruling

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

SOME of the borough's high-profile murder convictions associated with gang violence could be reviewed after a clarification of the controversial joint enterprise legislation.

Joint enterprise is a legal interpretation used in murder cases when it is not clear who struck the fatal blow – and everyone identified in a group of attackers is equally guilty because between them they knew that at least one person was armed and was intent on murder.

It became a key method for police and prosecutors to break through the codes of silence that surround gang violence, where it is unlikely that a key witness will testify on which of their associates struck the fatal blow.

However, last week the UK Supreme Court ruled that the legislation has often been wrongly interpreted by judges and prosecutors.

The ruling has opened the door for groups or gangs of people jailed under the law to appeal against their convictions.

One murder that resulted in four convictions under the joint enterprise law was that of 15-year-old Negus McClean, who was stabbed to death by a gang of young men in Bounces Road, Edmonton, in 2013.

Four young men were found guilty of his murder in 2013.

Travis Bowman, who was 16 when convicted, Brandon Hamilton, who was 18 at the time of his conviction, Tershan Edwards, who was 19 at the time of the trial, and Bilal Lariba, who was 18 when he stood trial, may be on the verge of lodging appeals on the back of this latest ruling.

The 2014 killing of 23-year-old father Khiry Ford, in Haselbury Road, Edmonton, saw twins Deo and Charles Tamale both convicted for his murder as the prosecution argued they could both be charged with the offence as it was not necessary to prove that only one of them had struck the fatal blow.

Although the legislation has allowed the police to press ahead with prosecutions when a group of people are all involved in an attack, civil liberties campaigners have pointed to the fact that it has disproportionately seen groups of young black men sent to prison for a crime they may not have directly carried out.

Kate Osamor, the MP for Edmonton, said that while it was important that "a tough approach is taken to reduce knife crime in our community" the re-evaluation of the law was "long overdue."

She told the Advertiser: "Joint enterprise is unjust as it punished people for crimes they did not commit first hand."

Victims of violence: Negus McClean, top, and Khiry Ford, above

"I welcome the news that the government have finally recognised the injustice behind this legislation – which saw people put behind bars for crimes committed 'by association'.

"This overwhelmingly affected young BAME [black, Asian and ethnic minority] men as a result of the racialisation of gang rhetoric.

"I am grateful to those who campaigned so passionately against the legislation, such as the grassroots movement Joint Enterprise: Not Guilty by Association, established by the families of those affected by this law. I sincerely hope that cases are re-examined so that proper justice is served."

Man jailed for plotting burglary

A MAN has been jailed for his role in a conspiracy to burgle a home in Belgravia last year.

Mark William Harding, 45, pictured right, of Worcesters Avenue, Enfield, was sentenced to four years and four months in prison at Southwark Crown Court on Monday after pleading guilty to conspiracy to burgle and handling stolen goods in December last year.

He was jailed alongside Rashid Alleyne, 24, from Morden, south London, who was sentenced to three years and four months behind bars, Gavin James, 36, of Morden, who was jailed for two years, and Peter John Costello, 34, from Wallington, south London, who was sentenced to two years and eight months in prison.

The Met Police's Special

Project Team, who investigate organised crime and robberies, had been collecting intelligence on the group for months and discovered their plans to burgle a flat in Eaton Place, Belgravia, in west London in September 2015.

The group were intercepted by police on Tuesday, September 22, as they were trying to sneak into the block of flats through a communal door.

Harding also pleaded guilty to handling hair extensions, worth £100,000, which had been stolen from a shop in Ealing, west London, on September 13.

Cloudy2Clear Announce Trusted Trader Partnership

Consumer champions Which? have now joined the thousands of customers who recognise that Cloudy2Clear Windows really are a business that you can TRUST. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has received the coveted 'Which? Trusted Trader' status after going through a rigorous accreditation process entirely focussed on customer service.

Group Managing Director Marcus McGee believes that Which? have endorsed Cloudy2Clear's long standing company policy of delivering the highest standards possible at all times. "Our service is simple. If your double glazing has misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Whilst a number of tradespeople perhaps don't focus on customer care as much as they should do, we make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle.

Locally Cloudy2Clear service the Enfield, Edmonton, Palmers Green, Winchmore Hill & Southgate areas and manager Richard Power agrees that this approach is a major factor in his success. "The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated as both my customers and, obviously a body as nationally important as Which? now recognise."

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Richard a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Chickenshed Theatre

IT has been a busy weekend at Chickenshed. I have just counted, and the total number of performances and presentations taking place in our theatre alone was 13 – that is apart from our outreach team and students who have been taking their devised pieces out into the community.

Quite an achievement for any theatre – and a good job we're not superstitious.

I really believe that we are able to offer something enjoyable for every age group and covering many different tastes. For the very young we had our Tales from the Shed shows.

If I am in the theatre and fancy a small break from being the director of music, the best place for me to go is into the studio theatre to see Tales from the Shed and our fantastic and extremely energetic cast entertaining up to 140 people with songs, puppets, dance and general mayhem.

On Friday and Saturday, we performed Write Here, Write Now twice each day. The five featured plays for our older audiences were amazing.

And if that wasn't enough, three of our very talented young actors performed an ad hoc and hilarious sketch show after our Friday performance, which was received very enthusiastically.

For music lovers we featured a lively blues music night on Sunday evening in our theatre bar – completing a packed weekend.

And so we come to the start of a new week when we continue rehearsals for our new spring show, which opens in just under two weeks. Sharing Stages will be our way of celebrating our many creative partners of the past, present and future by bringing to the stage a range of collaborative pieces which together will form a beautiful, moving and entertaining production.

Punch and Judy politics are not the way to do it

I WOULD like to take this opportunity to respond to councillor Mike Rye's comments ("Listen to the residents...", Opinion, February 17).

Mr Rye's response is classic Punch and Judy politics. Rather than answering my question directly, he deliberately avoids it.

I know that the former Tory council leader is a history teacher by profession and therefore he should be reminded of a history lesson himself of Tory misrule under his tenure, from 2002 to 2010 – the decision to close Weir Hall Library, the closure of Carterhatch Lane recycling plant and the slashing of jobs at the town hall through compulsory council staff redundancies, to name but a few.

I am certain, if Mr Rye had genuinely listened to the concerns of Enfield residents, he would not have lost his job back in May 2010.

The same is true with former Tory group leader councillor Michael Lavender, who was sent packing by the electorate in May 2014.

However, not all is a disaster as at least one Tory Party manifesto under Mr Lavender's leadership had been fulfilled.

The silver lining is the fact the Tories had implemented their own policy in the reduction of councillors – that is, the reduction of Tory councillors to be specific.

We have a duty to help sufferers of dementia

IN London, there are more than 72,000 people living with dementia. I recently spoke at an Alzheimer's Society event to launch the dementia manifesto for London.

As part of this manifesto it emphasises the importance of engaging communities so that we can make sure that people living with dementia get the support they need to live well.

Did you know that 64 per cent of people living with dementia in London feel isolated following a diagnosis?

Hackney recently began a Dementia Action Alliance. The Dementia Action Alliance is a movement with one simple aim: to bring about a society-wide response to dementia.

It encourages and supports communities and organisations across England to take practical actions to enable people to live well with dementia and reduce the risk of costly crisis intervention.

I am calling on all local businesses, cafes, GP surgeries, leisure centres and faith groups to join up to the DAA in Hackney. It is an exciting initiative and one which supports our community goals in Hackney.

If I'm elected mayor, I will certainly be doing my bit to help make London dementia friendly and that's why I am calling on Hackney to support the local DAA.

Boiler scheme can help you turn up the heat (and save some cash)

KEEPING your home warm in this cold weather is not cheap, especially when you have an old, inefficient boiler, which is why at City Hall we're offering Londoners a fantastic deal by giving them £400 towards the cost of a new boiler – a nice boost when you need to turn the heating up a notch or two.

Thanks to my London Boiler Cash-back Scheme, you could also save a hefty £340 on your annual bills by upgrading to a high energy-efficient, future-proof model.

Having an efficient boiler also massively reduces your carbon footprint and makes your home a safer and cleaner place to live, with less risk of carbon monoxide poisoning.

So you'll be saving money and energy and improving our city's environment.

Signing up couldn't be simpler. You just need to be a home owner or an accredited landlord and have an inefficient boiler. Head over to www.london.gov.uk/boilers for all the information you'll need and apply for your cashback voucher today.

Cut out the choc: Shayne Ward

Ditch the choc this March

EVERY year, hundreds of thousands of lives are cut short by heart disease and, in London alone, heart and circulatory conditions take the lives of about 13,500 people each year.

That's why I'm calling on everyone in London to join me in the fight against heart disease by signing up to the British Heart Foundation's DECHOX campaign.

By challenging yourself to give up chocolate for the month of March and asking for sponsorship, you will help fund £1million of life-saving research that will make a difference to millions of lives.

For self-confessed chocoholics, like me, it won't be easy, but every pound raised will be crucial in helping fund the cutting-edge breakthroughs for those fighting a daily battle with heart disease.

Last year more than 19,000 people took part in DECHOX and raised an astonishing £800,000, and this year I am helping BHF try to raise even more.

So, whether you're an undercover chocolate eater, a crafty nibbler or a full-on midnight fridge raider, challenge yourself to a DECHOX and sign up today at bhf.org.uk/DECHOX

'Break our windows – but you won't break our spirit'

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

A COMMUNITY café run by volunteers has been ransacked by vandals for the second time.

The Greenery Café, in Broomfield Park, Aldermans Hill, Palmers Green, is run by Sarah Cotton and Ema Mortimer, along with their loyal band of volunteers.

The group set it up as a not-for-profit café two years ago and all the monies raised from the sale of teas, coffees and snacks are ploughed back into the café and the park.

The Greenery was forged from the shell of the former public toilets in Broomfield Park with money for the revamp coming from the now axed Enfield Residents' Priority Fund.

In August 2014, vandals broke into the community café, tore through the small kitchen area and made off with the cash box, the coffee machine and some stock.

This time around, nothing was stolen, but Sarah described the sight that met her eyes on Thursday morning as "total carnage".

"It was half term, so I had the kids with me, and we saw that the windows had been smashed," she told the Advertiser.

"We have logs under a tree outside that children sit on in the summer – they had picked up those and used them to break through the windows."

She described how cups, coffee and tea was strewn around the floor of the café.

"They made a horrible, horrible mess," she added.

Within hours of news breaking of the attack, the community had rallied around.

Winchmore Hill glaziers Hand and Langer came forward to help repair the windows and volunteers stepped into the breach to help with the clean-up.

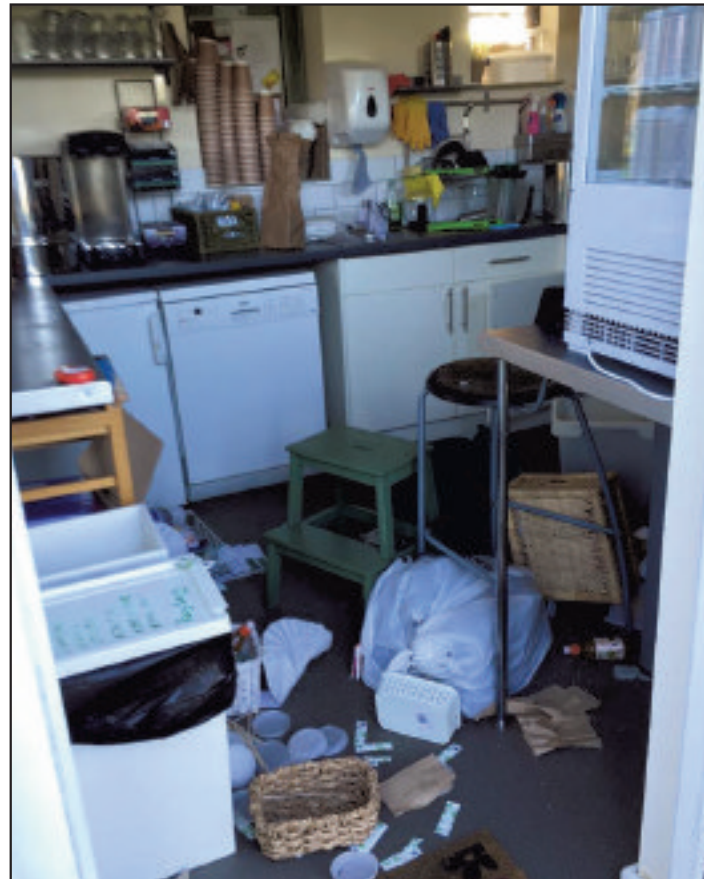

After the last attack, security was stepped up around the area with parks police and community support officers jointly clamping down on anti-social behaviour.

However, this attack has happened just months before the parks police, who patrol the borough's green spaces, are due to be redeployed elsewhere.

"That really concerns us," Sarah said. "They make a really big difference to us – we know them and our volunteers feel really reassured by their presence. The response of the public and our volunteers like last time has been amazing."

Sarah said it would be "back to business as usual" by Saturday.

"Vandals may have broken our windows, but they have not broken our spirit," she vowed.

Ransacked: The Greenery Café, in Broomfield Park, Palmers Green

Fair play for over-50s

A WINTER fair for the borough's over-50s combined physical activities and entertainment with useful tips on the best ways to stay fit and healthy and to reduce energy bills.

Members of Enfield Over 50s Forum enjoyed dancing, yoga and zumba, as well as less strenuous activities including massage, workshops, talks and an award-winning play, during the organisation's annual event at Enfield County School, in Holly Walk, Enfield Town, on Friday.

There was free advice on topics ranging from overcoming sleep difficulties and coping with stress, to how to avoid being scammed and making the best use of smartphones and tablets. The theme of the day was Keep Warm, Keep Safe, Keep Active and there was an emphasis on helping people cut fuel bills by making their homes as energy efficient as possible.

Dr Mo Abedi, chairman of the Enfield Clinical Commissioning Group, also spoke about the options available for those who are sick and seeking treatment and encouraged people to join the patient participation group at their GP surgery to make their voices heard.

Hatton Garden trial conviction appeal

A PLUMBER from Enfield convicted in the Hatton Garden jewel heist trial has lodged an appeal.

Hugh Doyle, of Riverside Gardens, was found guilty last month at Woolwich Crown Court of one count of laundering following the raid over the Easter weekend last year.

A jury of six men and six women convicted him of allowing land near his workshop behind the Old Wheat-sheaf pub, in Windmill Hill, Enfield, to be used on May 19, 2015, for a transfer of jewels stolen by the Hatton Garden gang.

He was cleared after a seven-week trial of an alternative charge of conspiring with others to convert, conceal or transferring criminal property. There is no suggestion that the 48-year-old was involved in the raid at the safe deposit vaults in central London.

Co-defendant Carl Wood, 58, of Elderbeck Close, Cheshunt, is appealing against his conviction for conspiracy to burgle the Hatton Garden Safe Deposit company and conspiracy to conceal jewellery, bullion and cash from the raid.

Appeal: Hugh Boyle

A judge will consider their applications. If successful, the appeals will be heard by a panel of three judges at the Court of Appeal at the Royal Courts of Justice.

William Lincoln, 60, from Bethnal Green, east London, who was convicted of conspiracy to burgle after last month's trial, has not submitted an appeal to date.

The three men are due to be sentenced at Woolwich Crown Court next month. They will be joined by the heist ringleaders, who admitted their roles in the £14million raid.

They include Enfield men Danny Jones, 58, of Park Avenue, Bush Hill Park, and Terry Perkins, 67, of Heene Road, together with John "Kenny" Collins, 75, from Islington, north London, and Brian Reader, 76, of Dartford, Kent.

Council plays down books sell-off fears

By Ruth McKee
ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

THE council has denied it is flogging off books from a library as part of a downsizing plan which will see the authority narrow its focus on a just four flagship libraries in the borough.

Last week, the Advertiser witnessed a van emblazoned with the logo WeBuyBooks.co.uk being loaded with boxes of books taken from inside the John Jackson library, in Agricola Place, Bush Hill Park.

This paper has reported on concerns of residents in Main Avenue, Bush Hill Park, that they are seeing the gradual erosion of their library after Eldon Primary School, in Edmonton, took over the lease.

Former physics teacher Michael Hardyman, who lives in Bush Hill Park, said that over the past three months he had seen the permanent closure of the music room in the library, fewer desks for students to study on and a gradual reduction in bookshelves and IT terminal space throughout the library.

However, the council is adamant it is not selling off all the books in the library as a way to raise some quick cash.

A council spokeswoman said that the collection van was merely part of routine "stock management".

She added: "Every year we dispose of a number of books that are no longer suitable for use by the library service, either because they are out of date, rarely borrowed or in an unacceptably poor condition. This has happened for many years and in all libraries and creates room for the thousands of new books purchased each year."

She said that the books are sold to a private, profit-making company, Revival Books, which either sells them on again, or pulps them for recycling. Each year the council says that 47,000 books are sold off, raising £3,300.

Although the spokeswoman stressed that John Jackson library is still under local authority control, she admitted it was one of 13 in the borough that are being leased to community groups and third party organisations, such as schools, as a way of "bringing in an income and reducing our costs".

She added: "We are one of the few councils in London who have kept all their libraries open in these tough economic times and Enfield Council is committed to a comprehensive library service that meets the needs of the community. The community libraries will continue to provide the services that are essential to any public library and we will ensure the important principle of universal access to the library service remains paramount."

Rare vacancy crops up for resident aged over 60

By Julia Gregory

julia.gregory@nlhnews.co.uk

WANTED one resident for a historic des res in Enfield.

The Old Enfield Charitable Trust is trying to fill a rare vacancy at one of its almshouses.

The trust cares for ten 19th-century homes in Hertford Road, Enfield Highway, and a chance has come up for an Enfield resident to move in.

Trust administrator Bindya Amin said: "They have to be 60-plus and they have to be independent, so they can live on their own."

"It's a one-bedroom property with a kitchen, bathroom and toilet with all the usual rules and regulations of a landlord and tenant."

Historically, tenants of the almshouses, which date back to the 1840s, had to be widows.

Ms Amin said: "Vacancies are fairly rare and we would like to hear from anybody who is interested."

Tenants pay £150 a week to live in the almshouses.

Ms Amin said: "They are quite small, but they suit elderly people on their own. Not many people know about the vacancy."

"It's beautifully kept, like a little cottage, and there are five lovely neighbours with a beautiful little garden."

Residents are invited to a party at the trust's offices in Enfield Town. They are also treated to Christmas gifts from the trust and receive cards on their birthdays.

Available: One of the almshouses in Hertford Road, Enfield Highway

"We have a good relationship with them," added Ms Amin. "We do look after them and listen to their needs."

However, she stressed that the trust was not a care home and did not offer

24-hour care. Residents must be able to look after themselves.

The oldest resident has just celebrated their 80th birthday and the youngest is 60.

Anyone interested in should contact the trust on 020 8367 8941.

Seeking votes: Toni Guiver, chairwoman of the Friends of Firs Farm

Supporters of Firs Farm wildlife haven urged to vote for supermarket grant

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

IN the four months since the plastic bag charge came in, who has not quietly cursed when arriving at a supermarket checkout and suddenly remembering the ever-growing pile of bags for life stacked on the kitchen counter at home?

However, it should comfort all to know that some of those 5ps will be poured into the borough's green spaces as the most popular local environmental project will be awarded a grant to fund an element of the work.

In Winchmore Hill, Toni Guiver, the driving force behind a scheme at Firs Farm, is hoping that the community project to nurture a wildlife haven with a network of flood-relieving wetlands and cycle paths through the natural wilderness will benefit from the grant money.

"We have got the lovely new wetlands that are still being planted," Toni told the Advertiser.

"We are doing so many improvements in the park for wildlife and we are putting in activities for everyone in the local community to make it a green space everyone can use and benefit from."

"The wetlands are being created on little-used football pitches that have been slowly deteriorating for more than 30 years."

"And so we want to encourage other people to come along to the wetlands and find out about the work being done, and to do that we need noticeboards telling people about the open space at both the Winchmore Hill entrance and the entrance to the park on the A10, in Edmonton."

"The boards would serve an educational purpose. They would give people information on who to contact about getting involved with the scheme. They would let people know what is there on the site in terms of wildlife and nature," added the chairwoman of the Friends of Firs Farm.

The group behind the wetlands scheme bagged £175,000 in funding for the flood relief system and cycle paths through the park from the Greater London Authority last year after they won favour in a public vote for Londoners to choose their favourite community and environmental project.

Now Toni is calling on supporters of the wetlands to get involved again as, in order to win the grant funding from Tesco, residents need to go into their local store to vote for the Firs Farm scheme to be awarded money.

"This project makes the environment nicer for everyone and noticeboards would really help us reach out to the community on all sides of the park," she said.

For information about how to vote and support Toni and her team, visit <http://www.tesco.com/carrier-bags/>

Baby he's a Rich man

Unfashionable?:
Richard Digance

By Russ Lawrence

russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

STIRRING memories for some who may have wondered what ever happened to him is Richard Digance.

Back in the in 1980s and 1990s the veteran comedian and folk singer, who appears this Friday in his one-man show at Edmonton's Millfield Theatre, was hardly off our television screens.

The popular and enduring entertainer had his own series of Sunday night TV specials, endless guest spots on variety shows including Live at The London Palladium, Summertime Special and the Cilla

Black and Des O'Connor shows, plus he was a regular guest in poetry corner on TV's Countdown for 19 years.

But his gentle brand of comedy songs, amusing anecdotes and audience participation fell out of favour with more recent generations of television executives for not being cutting edge enough and he last made a TV appearance more than two decades ago.

He also grew tired of the shallowness of show business and the talented songwriter and raconteur made a conscious decision to do what he loves most – returning to his musical roots and performing to live audiences.

"I've never really been in fashion and if you're not in fashion you're never going to fall out of it," he says.

The career of the Bafta-nominated entertainer, now aged 66, spans more than 40 years.

His work has been recognised with awards from both the music and entertainment industries including a Gold Award from the British Academy of Composers and Songwriters.

His show, which Richard once described as "like a car boot sale of different tables", combines hilarious new material as well as many of his classic laugh-out-loud routines.

Grimsby goes fishing for laughs

GRIMSBY (15, 83 mins)

L OUIS Leterrier, director of The Transporter and Now You See Me, tries in vain to contain the manic energy of Borat star Sacha Baron Cohen in this action-packed comic caper. Sebastian Grimsby (Mark Strong) is a debonair and dashing secret agent with MI6, whose resourcefulness and courage know no bounds. For 28 years, he has been estranged from his adopted big brother Nobby (Cohen), a dim-witted football hooligan with monstrous sideburns, who lives in Grimsby with his despairing girlfriend Lindsey (Rebel Wilson) and nine children. After almost three decades apart, Nobby reunites with his brother just as Sebastian uncovers a diabolical plot that could mean the end of the world. Surrounded by assassins and potential traitors, the super spy calls upon the questionable skills of his numbskull brother to avert catastrophe. Co-stars include Penelope Cruz, Isla Fisher, Ian McShane and Johnny Vegas. Released: February 24

SECRET IN THEIR EYES (15, 111 mins)

HOLLYWOOD has never been shy about resetting the delicate, glittering jewels of foreign cinema as gaudy showcases for A-list stars. When Argentinian writer-director Juan Jose Campanella won the Oscar for his serpentine 2009 thriller El Secreto De Sus Ojos, it was only a matter of time before an English-language version surfaced.

Brothers: Nobby (Sacha Baron Cohen) and Sebastian (Mark Strong)

The sturdy structure and hairpin twists remain firmly in place, but the original film's politically charged setting – the volatile period before Argentina's Dirty War – has been replaced by the paranoia and fear that percolated across America in the aftermath of the September 11 attacks. In 2002 Los Angeles, FBI counter-terrorism officer Ray Karsten (Chiwetel Ejiofor) assesses possible threats emanating from a local mosque. He is called to a crime scene close to the mosque and identifies the raped and mutilated body of a girl in a dumpster as Caroline Cobb (Zoe Graham), the daughter of his good friend Jessica Cobb (Julia Roberts), who works as an investigator for district attorney Martin Morales (Alfred Molina). Flanked by his partner Bumpy Willis (Dean Norris), Ray identifies a comic book-obsessed misfit called Marzin (Joe Cole) as the prime suspect. Ray and assistant DA Claire Sloan (Nicole Kidman) attempt to entrap Marzin, but Morales warns them off because the oddball is a police informant. "That boy is untouchable. Welcome to the war on terror," growls the district attorney.

Thirteen years later, Ray identifies a man who he believes is Marzin in disguise. He reunites with Jess and Claire to solve the case, but reopening old wounds comes at a terrible price. Unfolding in dual time frames 13 years apart, Secret In Their Eyes is a competent update of a vastly superior tale of retribution and regret. A bold final flourish should stun audiences who haven't had the intense, nerve-racking pleasure of watching the original. Released: February 26
RATING: 6/10

INCREASE IN PROPERTY VALUE

North London has seen an increase in property values throughout 2015 and coming into 2016 which has increased the potential value of development land. This can range from land to the rear of your existing property through to a yard or even an outbuilding. The national policy for planning is geared towards delivering many more new houses throughout the next decade. Coupled with an increase in demand and a lack of supply now is a good time to come forward with developable and deliverable sites.

For example - there are niche developers who specialise in combining groups of gardens to create housing schemes. It may be worth considering this concept and discussing whether you and your neighbours would be keen to explore this idea. If so Lanes can facilitate this.

Of course - all development should be considerate to the surrounding environment and be sustainable for the community, but the nation badly needs to provide more housing within our existing communities, so if you are in possession of potential development land, you could help shape the future of your neighbourhood, whilst maximising the value of the land.

Lanes specialist Land & New Homes Company can provide up to date market appraisals and advise on all things development from inception to completion.

For an initial, confidential chat please contact Simon Cox at Lanes Land on 01992 526754 or simon.cox@lanesnewhomes.co.uk.

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

- Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.
- 'Classified' Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers', and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.
- To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent', 'wholesaler', '(*)' etc. in the advertisement.
- The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:
  - Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;
  - Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or
  - Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.
- The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.
- Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.
- The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.
- Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.
- All gross advertising rates (except classified lineage and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board surcharge, payable by the Advertiser to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.
- All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.
- Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.
- The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.
- Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.
- All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.
- Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.
- Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should Legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.
- Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect for an advertisement(s) should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.
- All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.
- All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.
- The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.
- The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belong to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.
- Box Numbers
Boxes are open for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing matter. Original testimonials, goods, cash, cash stamps or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A box Number and postal address are charged as part of the advertisement, i.e. Box No. centre address. There is no charge for forwarding replies. Box numbers alone are not available for use in 'Trade' advertisements, other than Employment and Business Opportunities.
- Holiday & Travel Category
All advertising must contain the name of the advertiser, phone number alone are not permitted.
- Data Protection
The service you have requested may require us to carry out a credit search at a credit-referencing agency, which will record the fact that a search has been made. We may need to share your information with other lenders and credit reference agencies. However, we will only use the information from these searches to make credit-granting decisions and, if necessary, for fraud prevention or tracing debtors.
- Data controller services will use your information for administration and analysis. We may share your information with other Trade Group Newspaper companies or carefully selected third parties. We, or they, may send you details of other goods and services, which may be of interest to you. The information may be provided by letter, telephone or other reasonable means of communication. Calls may be recorded or monitored for training purposes.
- Special conditions apply with regard to the advertising of adult services, which are outlined to all persons submitting such advertisements.

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

1. Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.
2. 'Classified' Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers', and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.
3. To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent', 'wholesaler', '(T)' etc. in the advertisement.
4. The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:
- (a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;
- (b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date / day / dates specified by the advertiser; or
- (c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.
4. The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.
5. Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.
6. The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.
7. Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.
8. All gross advertising rates (except classified image and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.
9. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.
10. Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.
11. The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.
12. Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.
13. All accounts must be settled with the Publishers by the Company and the Customer.
- (1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.
- (2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.
14. Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect for an advertisement should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.
15. All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.
16. All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.
17. The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.
18. The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belong to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.
- Box Numbers
Boxes are open for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing matter. Original testimonials, goods, cash, cash stamps or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A box Number and postal address are charged as part of the advertisement. i.e. Box No., centre address. There is no charge for forwarding replies. Box numbers alone are not available for use in 'Trade' advertisements, other than Employment and Business Opportunities.
- Holiday & Travel Category
All advertising must contain the name of the advertiser, phone number alone are not permitted.
- Data Protection
The service you have requested may require us to carry out a credit search at a credit-referencing agency, which will record the fact that a search has been made. We may need to share your information with other lenders and credit reference agencies. However, we will only use the information from these searches to make credit-granting decisions and, if necessary, for fraud prevention or tracing debtors.
- Data controller will use your information for administration and analysis. We may share your information with other Tindle Group Newspaper companies or carefully selected third parties. We, or they, may send you details of other goods and services, which may be of interest to you. The information may be provided by letter, telephone or other reasonable means of communication. Calls may be recorded or monitored for training purposes.
- Special conditions apply with regard to the advertising of adult services, which are outlined at all persons submitting such advertisements.

CAN YOU SELL THIS SPACE?

If so, we have an opportunity for a Telephone Sales Executive
Full or Part Time positions available
Yellow Advertiser has been published in this area and been a part of the community in Basildon since 1976.

An opportunity has arisen in our new Basildon office to join our busy sales team. We are looking for a really exceptional individual who can become part of our commercial division which we are currently expanding. The successful candidate will have many responsibilities in this varied sales role, giving priority to developing new business by cold calling and building relationships with prospective clients. To be successful in our business you need to have a flexible approach to work and be prepared to dig in and roll up your sleeves when the going gets a little bit tough! A proven sales background is essential and we are looking for a highly motivated individual who is keen to learn and keen to earn. A good command of the English language and good writing skills are most definitely a prerequisite, as are good listening skills and computer literacy.

What is in it for you:

Basic Salary plus tiered bonus structure, 5 weeks holiday per annum, Pension Scheme (after qualifying period), on-going training.

If this sounds like the opportunity for you please email vickyburles@yellowad.co.uk with your current CV and the reasons why you match our requirements.

Previous applicants need not apply.

HENDON SCHOOL

Golders Rise, London NW4 2HP

Learning Support Assistant

We would like to appoint a Support worker in the Provision for deaf students, in Hendon School. The post would be suitable for someone who is interested in joining the education profession. This is a rewarding job, as you will be supporting deaf students to access the mainstream curriculum and managing small groups for pre and post tutoring sessions in the provision. Ensuring deaf students take their full part in school life would be an important part of your work. Education to A levels or a degree would be useful but not essential as you will be supporting students for all subject areas from year 7 to year 13. You will also need good communication skills and be willing to work as part of a friendly team. You will receive initial training and there may be the possibility of further training in the future. Applications must be made using Hendon School application forms as we do not accept CVs.

Application form & job description are available from our website www.hendonschool.co.uk – Closing date for applications Midnight on Sunday 6th March 2016.

Successful candidates are required to complete an enhanced DBS disclosure. We are committed to the protection of children. NO AGENCIES PLEASE.

Gardeners

We are looking to appoint 2 new gardeners to join our team of enthusiastic and dedicated staff.

Our grounds have been wonderfully cared for and imaginatively developed by our gardeners, Louise and Richard, who are now moving to the Forest of Dean. We have, amongst other things, allotments, edible trails, gardening clubs, a sensory garden and have been recognised nationally for the quality of our grounds and outdoor spaces.

This is a fantastic opportunity for gardeners who have a passion for their craft and can continue the innovative work which has been developed over the years. If you are interested in working creatively to cultivate beautiful spaces for our children, families and communities to enjoy, we would love to hear from you.

For an informal chat about the posts, or to arrange a visit to see our gardens, please call Andrea, the Executive Headteacher, on 020 8807 2458.

Application forms can be obtained from the school office churchfield.office@churchfield.enfield.sch.uk or by telephoning 020 8807 2458. ## CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

1. Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.

2. 'Classified' Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers', and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.

To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent', 'wholesaler', '(T)' etc. in the advertisement.

3. The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:

(a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;

(b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or

(c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.

4. The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.

5. Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.

6. The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.

7. Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.

8. All gross advertising rates (except classified lineage and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.

9. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.

10. Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.

11. The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.

12. Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.

13. All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.

(1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.

(2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should Legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.

14. Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect for an advertisement(s) should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.

15. All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.

16. All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.

17. The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.

18. The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belong to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.

Box Numbers

Boxes are open for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing matter. Original testimonials, goods, cash, cash stamps or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A box Number and postal address are charged as part of the advertisement, i.e. Box No., centre address. There is no charge for forwarding replies.

Box numbers alone are not available for use in 'Trade' advertisements, other than Employment and Business Opportunities.

Holiday & Travel Category

All advertising must contain the name of the advertiser, phone number alone are not permitted.

Data Protection

The service you have requested may require us to carry out a credit search at a credit-referencing agency, which will record the fact that a search has been made. We may need to share your information with other lenders and credit reference agencies.

However, we will only use the information from these searches to make credit-granting decisions and, if necessary, for fraud prevention or tracing debtors.

Data controller will use your information for administration and analysis. We may share your information with other Tindle Group Newspaper companies or carefully selected third parties. We, or they, may send you details of other goods and services, which may be of interest to you. The information may be provided by letter, telephone or other reasonable means of communication. Calls may be recorded or monitored for training purposes.

Special conditions apply with regard to the advertising of adult services, which are outlined to all persons submitting such advertisements.

SPURS' CUP EXIT

Response wanted: Deli Alli expects Tottenham to bounce back from their FA Cup exit

Borough are beaten by table-toppers

HARINGEY BOROUGH fell short against the league leaders on Sunday as they were beaten 3-1 by AFC Sudbury in Ryman Division One North.

The ongoing problems with the pitch at Coles Park have forced Borough to switch their home games to Tilbury's Chadfields ground, and they got off to a bright start, only to have a goal ruled out for offside within two minutes.

And Borough were rewarded for their enterprise with a goal on 12 minutes when Josh Willer cut in from the right and curled a shot into the net.

Leon Wilson missed a good chance to extend their advantage when he shot horribly over from a good position, while Anthony McDonald was thwarted by a fine save from visiting keeper Marcus Garnham.

But Sudbury, who went into the match on the back of a run of ten successive wins, hit back and grabbed an equaliser on the stroke of half-time when Liam Wales turned in Joe Maybanks' cross from close range.

Only a stunning save from Garnham prevented Daniel Aristidou from restoring Borough's lead in the early stages of the second half as the hosts continued to give a good account of themselves.

However, it was Sudbury who struck next as they went in front with 20 minutes remaining – James Baker heading the ball to Wales on the right, and he delivered a cross which was side-footed home by Joe Maybanks.

The visitors then made sure of maximum points by adding a third nine minutes later, Jack Newman, Ollie Berquez and Luke Callander combining well to set up Maybanks, who coolly slotted into the net.

Only the post prevented Maybanks from completing his hat-trick late on, but it made no difference to the outcome as Borough ended up with nothing to show for their efforts.

Haringey Borough visit Wroxham on Saturday (3pm), before hosting Thamesmead Town on Tuesday (7.45pm).

Skolars seal spot in the quarter-finals

THE London Skolars booked their place in the quarter-finals of rugby league's Ipro Sport Cup with a comprehensive 44-6 victory at home to South Wales Scorpions on Saturday.

Playing their first competitive match of the season, the Skolars fell behind early on and the outcome remained in the balance at the interval, but they went on to score 26 unanswered points in the second half to ease through to the last eight.

Connor Farrar opened the scoring for the visitors with a try which Paul Emanuelli converted, but the Skolars hit back as Elliott Kear touched down on 17 minutes.

The hosts then squandered several good opportunities before taking control of the match by claiming two converted tries in quick succession late in the first half – with Charlie Lawrence and Erjon Dollapi both crossing the line.

Alex Anthony extended the Skolars' advantage by touching down four minutes into the second half as they began to take complete control of the contest.

Eddie Mbaraga marked his return to the club by claiming a try on 50 minutes, while Kear scored again two minutes later.

With the match becoming increasingly one-sided, Aaron Small and Ben Pointer also touched down before Sam Nash completed the rout by racing through a tiring defence to claim their ninth try. Lawrence converted four of the tries.

The London Skolars begin their campaign in Kingstone Press Championship One by visiting York City Knights on March 6.

DELI ALLI insists that Tottenham Hotspur will respond strongly after their dreams of FA Cup glory came to an end on Sunday.

Spurs, who lie second in the Premier League table, slumped to a 1-0 defeat at home to Crystal Palace in the fifth round of the competition to banish their hopes of doing a domestic double for just the second time in their history.

Alli, who was desperately unlucky not to give Tottenham the lead in the first half as he had a header cleared off the line and saw a shot hit both posts, was understandably disappointed with the result but believes that the side will bounce back in a positive fashion.

"We worked hard but it wasn't our day and you have to give credit to Palace for that as well," he said. "We had a lot of chances early on and if they go in, perhaps it's a more comfortable game for us."

"My shot was one of those moments where you're left scratching your head wondering how it did not go in. It was the same with the header. It's rare for me to get on to a corner and it was another moment where you are disappointed it hasn't gone in."

"Our mentality at the moment is to want to win every game and there is a lot of disappointment after that result, but we have to pick ourselves up.

"We have to work hard in training now, push ahead and look forward to the next game. Fiorentina is a massive match. We want to get back into form and want to win on Thursday."

And head coach Mauricio Pochettino was also left frustrated by the outcome on Sunday, believing that his side did not deserve to lose the match.

"We're very disappointed," he said. "The result was negative, but we're disappointed because when you play badly you don't deserve anything – but we were unlucky and deserved more. This can happen in football."

"We created the better chances, dominated the game and if we'd managed to go ahead it would have been a different match."

"When you assess the game we deserved more, but when you play a lot of matches sometimes it's difficult to win every game. The effort was good again but this time with a different result."

"Now we have another big match in the Europa League, a different competition and a very tough game again. We are in a period now where it's impossible to rest so we need to be focused every day and ready to compete on Thursday."

Tottenham host Fiorentina tomorrow in the second league of their last 32 tie in the Europa League, having secured a 1-1 draw in Italy last week.
